HICKEY.

Continuation of the Testimony for the Defense.

Messrs. Tierney and Carroll represent the Swell Mob;

And Swear that They Know of No Crookedness on Hickey's Part.

The Persons Who Started That Charge Against the Superintendent.

Ald. McAuley Has a Little Investigation of His Own.

TESTIMONY.

PRELIMINARY MATTERS.

The Hickey trial started in much quiet as element of sensation yesterday. It had been estimated that the defense would call in some professional thieves to testify that the Superintendent was not in collusion with them, but nobody supposed that the scheme would be carried out. The attendance at the court-room yesterday afternoon was larger than usual, owing to the presence of numerous witnesses than to chance visitors.

When the court was opened, the full Committee was present, Ald. McAuley requested that the witnesses retire to the ante-room until called to the stand. Thereupon a "rush cloud" of witnesses rose and marched out of the courtroom, nearly depauperating the benches. They were all for the defense.

Mr. Bondfield said that the defense would offer evidence in several general police orders.

One of these, Aug. 24, 1876, called the attention of the force to the continuance of gambling and swindling, and directed the men to arrest all gamblers and stop all games as far as possible.

The attorney also read a communication from John Tierney, the thief who, it was charged, was allowed to escape from the Central Station by paying Hickey $50. The communication alleged that it was Flannigan and not Hickey, to whom he paid money.

THE YOUNG MAN TIERNEY

was thereupon called as a witness and took the stand. He testified that he was arrested by Flannigan and Charlie detected the Sheriff of Kane County and up to that time he wanted to identify the witness as the person he wanted for his stealing. Witness was locked up again, and Flannigan came to him in the cell, and offered to let him out for $100. Witness told him that he had only $100.

Officer Henry Ulrich was also sworn and gave testimony to the same effect.

Officer Max Kipley followed with the same line of testimony. In his precept, the Twenty-third street one, there was only one gambling street.

Sergt. August Blettner was examined. There were several gambling resorts on the West Side, and he had been up within the past month. He knew of three gamblers, and he knew of one, Mr. Reynolds, one by Davis, and the other gamblers he did not know. A man named Corcoran agreed to keep a plan on Hickey.

Officer Andrew Barrett testified similarly, adding that he wouldn't believe Flannigan's idea of appointing some business man of noted executive ability, with the corollary that Sup't Hickey would remain in his position, but he should remain as the ostensible chief of the department. In short, he greatly deprecated the abolition of the office of City Marshal.

Officer Henry Ulrich was also sworn and gave testimony to the same effect.

Officer Andrew Barrett testified similarly, adding that he wouldn't believe Flannigan's idea of appointing some business man of noted executive ability, with the corollary that Sup't Hickey would remain in his position, but he should remain as the ostensible chief of the department. In short, he greatly deprecated the abolition of the office of City Marshal.

Greenbacks at the New York Gold Exchange yesterday closed at 90¢.

Secretary MORANZI furnishes a forcible reform and retrenchment argument in his monthly statement, wherein it will be seen that the national indebtedness was reduced $3,335,139 during the month of October. "And yet," as Shammy would remark, "the Republican administration is ruining the credit of the nation."

Into the profane circles of the law have fallen diverse sacred articles and effects pertaining to the temporal outfit of the Lord's anointed, the same being, carriages, wagons, horses, mules, harness, and cows, seized and sold at auction in Salt Lake yesterday to satisfy the decree of alimony in favor of the divorced prophetess Aza ELIZA. Surrounding these relics were with the halo of holiness, they went cheap to the possession of Gentile purchasers, and yet more of Bazaar's goods and chattels must go the same way before the business is settled.

The immense estate of the late Mr. LACK, of San Francisco, bids fair to furnish fat pickings for the legal fraternity in the years to come. JOHN H. LACK, the putative son of the deceased millionaire, is about to commence proceedings to contest the will, which he claims was procured by undue influence on the part of the trustees, whereby said JOHN H. LACK has been deprived of his lawful rights. Young LACK will also attempt to prove that the old gentleman was insane when the will was drawn up. The trustees on their part will, it is said, produce evidence to show that the contesting J. H. is not the legitimate offspring of LACK, deceased, and it is privately intimated that the elder LACK must certainly have been deaf if, while in flesh, he ever claimed such lawful paternity.

THE CAUSE OF SOUTHERN DISORDER.

In his speech on Monday evening, Mr. HENDRICKS propounded to his audience a question which he has asked half-a-dozen times before, and which any man in his audience with an ounce of brains in his head might have satisfactorily answered had he been so disposed. Mr. HENDRICKS said:

The Republicans said they were ready to friendship with the South when the colored man was safe—that there was no safety for him. He admitted that there was strife and bloodshed in the South, but there were States in the South where there was no bloodshed, no strife—in Virginia, North Carolina, and the Carolinas, Tennessee. But in South Carolina and Louisiana there was. Week by week, month by month, the story was told of death and suffering. In all the States, except South Carolina and Louisiana, the Democratic party was in the majority. But in the other two, the colored men were in the majority, and the machinery, and there was no safety for either the white or black man. For eleven years they had not been able to restore good government in two States. In the name of humanity, should not somebody else try? Would they be good enough to tell him why, in every State where the Democratic party was in the majority, there was no safety for the colored men, and why the States where the Republicans have absolute control there was no quietness and no law? If they answered that question, they would have solved the whole subject of Southern difficulties.

The answer to Mr. HENDRICKS' question is so plain that it hardly needs to be made, so plain that if Mr. HENDRICKS were an honest man he would not have asked it. The he did ask it, however, shows what a low estimate he placed upon the intelligence of his hearers. His general proposition is true, his application and inference untrue. In all the States of the South where the Democratic party is in the majority, and by virtue of that majority have secured control of the Government, there is peace and order. Why? Because the Republicans of the South, like the Republicans of the North, submit faithfully and fairly to the rule of the majority, and in the South even submit to it when that majority is obtained by fraud and force, as in Alabama and Mississippi. Submission to the rule of the majority is one of the foundations of Republicanism. Therefore, as Mr. HENDRICKS testifies, where the Democrats have control, there is neither murder nor bloodshed, because, as Mr. HENDRICKS is not honest enough to state, the minority submit. In South Carolina and Louisiana, Mr. HENDRICKS says, there is continual bloodshed. Why? Because in these two States there is a Republican majority to which the Democratic minority will not submit. They oppose the rule of the majority by "organizing hell." To accomplish their purposes they form themselves into rifle clubs, Ku-Klux Klan, and unlawful military organizations, headed by Truxton leaders. They ride up and down the country assailing Republican meetings, and breaking them up. They assassinate prominent Republicans at their firesides and upon the public highway. They terrify the courts so that the perpetrators of these infamous outrages cannot be punished. They intimidate juries so that they dare not indict, or they pack them with Truxtonites who will not indict. They stuff the ballot-boxes. They drive Republicans away from the polls by shot-gun violence. They employ every wrongful means to deprive the lawful majority of the right to rule. This is the reason why in States where the Republicans have a majority, confusion and violence reign—because the Democratic minority will not submit, and Mr. HENDRICKS knows it very well. We have shown that in States where the Democrats have the majority the Government has been for a time a dead letter.

The telegraphic reports given this morning of the great speech delivered in New York last evening by the Hon. WILLIAM M. EVANS will be read with interest and attention by the business-men of the Northwest. The sold men of the American metropolis, among them several life-long Democrats, realizing the danger to the public credit and the hindrance to the return of business activity and prosperity threatened by the possible success of the Democratic party, uniting in a request to Mr. EVANS to deliver an address embodying his views of the subject, and in his clear, calm, almost judicial presentation of the case, will be found reflected the serious fears and convictions of the most earnest, thoughtful, and intelligent of the great mass of non-partisan citizens. Mr. EVANS will have the weight of belongs to the words of one of America's greatest publicists and greatest ones.

The Chicago produce markets were steadier yesterday, with a fair aggregate of business. Meat market closed 10¢ per lb higher, at $15.87; sugar November or the year. Lard closed steady, at $9.62; per lb the cash and $9.77; steady the year. Meats were steady, at 4¢ for new shoulders, boxed; 8¢ for do short-ribs; and 8¢ for do short-tears. Lake freighters were more active to Buffalo. High-wines were easier, at $1.09 per gallon. Flour was dull and steady. Wheat closed 1¢ lower, at $1.12¢ for November and $1.13¢ for December. Corn closed 4¢ lower, at 49¢ for November and 49¢ for December. Oats closed 4¢ lower, at 39¢ cash and 39¢ for December. Rye was easier, at 60¢. Barley closed easier, at 90¢ cash and 82¢ for December. Hogs were dull and a shade lower, with most of the trading at $5.50 to 67.50. Cattle were inactive, at weak and irregular prices, selling at $2.00 to 5.25. Sheep were unchanged. One dollar in gold would buy $109.75 in greenbacks at the close.

In Virginia, where the ex-Confederates pride themselves upon their prudence and moderation, a quiet but strong expectation that the day is surely coming when the losses suffered during the War shall be made good out of the National Treasury. In order to get ready for this good time coming a law has been passed, and is now to be found on the Virginia statute-books, making it the duty of clerks of courts to keep and preserve a record of all claims for losses by the use or occupation of property by either army, all claims for slaves set free, etc. These claims, duly backed up by affidavits, are to be filed and recorded, just as deeds and mortgages are recorded, against the time when the record will be useful in proving up the losses and making good the claims. The result of the vote next Tuesday will determine whether this Virginia law was enacted for nothing or this.

THE CONFIDENCE GAME.

We have noticed among our Democratic exchanges during the last week a simultaneous and universal exhibition of exultant confidence in the prospect of the election of TILDEN and HENDRICKS. We have felt puzzled to account for this ridiculous manifestation of faith in a forlorn hope. Here in this State the Confederate country papers are all insisting that Illinois is sure for TILDEN and Tammany (they spell the last word reform). In Wisconsin they claim that State; in Michigan they claim that State; in Ohio they are loud in claiming the Buckeyes for TILDEN! And so on, all along the line. To a Solid South they say they are going to add a solid North for TILDEN and Tammany.

The explanation of this remarkable confidence has at last been revealed. TILDEN keeps what is called a "Literary Bureau," in Liberty street, New York, where he has constantly employed 160 politicians, Bohemians, penny-a-liners, and clerks. The business of this office is to write editorials and communications for the various Democratic newspapers, both daily and weekly, throughout the United States, to prepare speeches for the Democratic stumpers, ideas for the "reformers," and documents of all kinds for the mass. TILDEN himself plays the old spider in the centre of this engineering net-work. Shortly after the October election, TILDEN had prepared by his "Literary Bureau" a confidential circular which was sent out to all the State Committees and principal stumpers and editors. The State Committees were charged with the duty of distributing it to all the country editors and local post-houses "reform" politicians. The circular was addressed to a defunct Democratic organ in Wood County, Ohio, and fell into the hands of a party who authorizes it publicly. Hero is the stimulator:

DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE—ROOMS OF OHIO, COLUMBUS, Oct. 24, 1876.—Editor Democratic, Boiling Green, O.—DEAR Sir: National success is assured. There is no event in the future more probable than the election of TILDEN and HENDRICKS. The 2-mill tax levied annually under a permanent law retired that bounty debt, just as the 2-mill tax in Illinois, which continued for 20 years, paid off the State debt and interest of Illinois. When the debt in Illinois was paid, the tax ceased; when this bounty debt in New York was paid, the tax ceased. As well might Gov. BEVERIDGE or Gov. PALMER, of Illinois, claim to have reduced the taxation a million dollars a year, by the cessation of the 2-mill tax, as Gov. TILDEN to claim he had reduced taxation because the debt-tax ceased when the debt for which it was levied had been paid off by the means provided by his predecessors. It will be seen that the entire reduction of the tax-levy which TILDEN claims as one of his "marked and wonderful reforms" corresponds exactly with the amount of tax used to pay off the debt and the surplus handed over to TILDEN. Illinois once collected $600,000 a year for interest on her public debt; the debt being paid, the tax for interest was no longer levied. Can any of the Governors of Illinois claim to have reduced taxation because no tax for interest is now levied? And yet that is the whole story of TILDEN's "marked and wonderful reforms" on which Mr. HENDRICKS and Judge ORR stated that TILDEN had reduced the taxes of the State of New York $8,000,000 in one year! It is treating Mr. HENDRICKS who all these facts, with mild consideration to say that the repetition of this falsehood would be disgraceful to a bummer orator, and ought to be much more so to a candidate for Vice-President.

From this it will be seen that the whole number of employees now in the public service is between 30,000 and 40,000 less than reported by Mr. HENDRICKS. Instead of the increase reported by Mr. HENDRICKS, it is perceptible of demonstration that there has been a decrease since 1870, except in the Post-Office Department, which follows the increase and development of the country in the establishment of new postal-routes and post-roads. The apparent increase of nearly 4,000 in the Treasury Department, as shown in the above table, is accounted for by the fact that the last two Blue-Books contain certain officials never before enumerated in the list, among whom are the Deputy Collectors, Gangers, Storkeepers, and mint employees.
